THE MOST VERSATILE PEACH ROOTSTOCK FOR HEAVY OR SANDY SOILS

Resistant to Soil Nematodes

SELECT THE ROOTSTOCK THAT SERVES YOU BEST

S-37 ROOTSTOCK

(PLANT PATENT NO. 904)

S-37 is the best all around peach understock for peach, nectarine and almond varieties because of its high resistant qualities and adaptability to all soil types. S-37 is the only nematode resistant peach rootstock extensively planted and proven in commercial orchards. S-37 Rootstock has been planted throughout the United States and is currently under tests in Europe, Africa and Asia. Insist on S-37 Rootstock—proven by more than 20 years of research and backed by over 5 million bearing trees. S-37 is the only proven Resistant Peach Rootstock—accept nothing less—insist on S-37.

PLANT S-37* – AMERICA'S FINEST
RESISTANT PEACH ROOTSTOCK

RESISTANT ROOTSTOCKS

RESISTANT ROOTSTOCKS—Are rootstocks selected and planted for their resistance to insects and disease prevalent in many areas of the United States. In general, the resistant rootstocks are adapted to a wider range of soil conditions and can be successfully planted in all areas where fruits can be grown.

MARIANA 2624—Mariana 2624 is the best adapted all around rootstock for plums, prunes and apricots as it is a natural plum rootstock; resistant to nematode, oak root fungus and crown gall. In our research and field tests, we have found Mariana 2624 to be the outstanding root for plum, prune and apricot and have discontinued growing the other plum and apricot rootstocks except on special orders for specific conditions. Mariana 2624 is also used as rootstock for some varieties of almonds in wet areas; however, Nonpareil almond does not make a good union on this rootstock.

STANDARD ROOTSTOCKS

THE STANDARD ROOTSTOCKS—Are used and selected for their ease in obtaining a seed and cutting source and their ability under normal conditions to produce a thrifty, healthy tree when the desired variety is budded or grafted on them. Where no pest or damaging insects or fungus exists, the standard rootstock is very desirable.

LOVELL PEACH ROOTSTOCK is an example of such a rootstock and it is a good rootstock for peach, nectarine and almond varieties where nematode or other pests are not a problem.

FRUIT VARIETIES - ASK FOR DESCRIPTIVE LITERATURE.

MR. FRUIT GROWER:

The past several seasons our Research Department in cooperation with the Agriculture Extension Service and the State Bureau of Plant Pathology, has rapidly expanded the virus free budwood selection and rootstock improvement program. Each year more and more varieties are added to the indexed list. This means better rootstock, better varieties, greater production and uniformity of growth in your orchards.

For nematode control, every acre of our nursery devoted to fruit trees and grape vine production is fumigated with 100 gallons of DD soil fumigant. Fumigation and inspection operations are conducted under close supervision by the State and County Commissioner. We are one of the few Pinto Tag fruit tree nurseries in California. Our trees are inspected visually and microscopically by the State Nematologist and Pathologist to insure the cleanest stock available.
